John Henry Foley's little daughter is sick this morning.

The death angel has been among us, calling Grannie Graham. She was buried at Danley's Cross Roads last second Sunday evening. She was nearly eighty years old, one of the few that had been able to hold her home through all those panies. I think she had lived there nearly fifty years, but for the past year she could not live alone but stayed with her children. She left three sons and two daughters, who will miss her very much.

We all regret the death of Mr. Curtis Donaldson. He was a fine man, had many friends.

We regret the sad death of Carlie Kendrick. I have known him from a small boy. I met him in Elba last Thursday a week ago. I told him I would see him again, but will not. I heard a team of mules ran away with him, killing set out to prepare yourself for that ter is sick this morning.

Had you ever thought what you might do with a few cents invested in a want ad? Here is what it will

It will rent for you the extra room in your home and thus enable you to add extra money to your income.

It will enable you to trade off that surplus piece of furniture that you are keeping in the attic for something that you can utilize in your home that will add to your pleasure and comfort.

It will help you sell the extra flowers that you can cut from your plants. It will bring you customers for garden vegetables.

It will enable you to sell or buy livestock, used cars, trucks or wagons. It will sell your bird dog or gun, or help you find the dog if you lose him.

It will sell old books provided they are by standard authors.

It will sell or rent your home or farm. It will enable you to sell farm produce or field seeds. It will enable you to buy used farm implements in good condition at a great saving.

There are hundreds of homes and farms from which the owners by use of our want ad columns regularly could sell something they don't need to someone who does need it and want it and would buy it if only he or she knew you had it and would be willing to sell it.

If you doubt that this is true, suppose you make a try at it and you will be convinced that it is true.

In his report, Bennett condemns the off-expressed generalization that every farmer who adopts soil-conserving farming methods is subject to financial losses. Generalities of this kind, he says, slow down the adoption of conservation measures and in so doing, "cost a great many farmers thousands of dollars each year."
